Message: In June 2015, Ascension began the process of selling St. Joseph's Regional Medical Center (SJRMC) in Idaho to RCCH HealthCare Partners, the for-profit hospital company created this summer through the merger of RegionalCare Hospital Partners and Capella Healthcare. The goal of the transaction was to position SJRMC to best ensure that the healthcare needs of the community would continue to be served well into the future.

Currently, SJRMC in Lewiston, Idaho, is the only Ascension hospital in the state and one of only two Ascension facilities in the Northwest. RCCH HealthCare Partners has three facilities in the Northwest and SJRMC will give them a presence in four Northwestern states. We are confident that joining RCCH will give SJRMC the ability to faithfully serve individuals in the community well into the future.
